Introductory

The Calgary Albertan, the only morning newspaper in Alberta, has become the recognized authority on matters of daily news regarding Western Canadian oilfields. Each day a page is devoted to news from these fields, chiefly Turner Valley, gathered and written by a full-time editorial representative in Turner Valley. Daily News reports, however, while giving the latest up-to-the-minute developments at the oilfields and daily stock quotations, cannot cover the great volume of statistical information of a more or less permanent character, available on the various companies, which is absolutely necessary for the intelligent investor. Because of the great need for a handy reference manual giving all such essential information, the Albertan Publishing Company decided to publish the Calgary Albertan Oil Manual, of which this is the first issue.

It is the intention of the publishers to revise and publish this manual four times yearly, each edition to give all changes in capitalization, officers, mergers, etc., that have occurred since the previous issue.

The book has been compiled from the records of oil companies and from elaborate files that contain practically everything that has been published concerning the various companies.

The publishers wish to express their appreciation of the co-operation of officials of oil companies in assisting in making the manual as complete as possible.

The information herein contained has been collected from reliable and authentic sources, but its correctness is not guaranteed.

Auditors: George A. Touche & Company, Winnipeg, Man.

History and Properties: The history of the Calgary and Edmonton Land Company dates back to the time when English interests built the Calgary and Edmonton Railway, receiving in return a Dominion land grant of over 1,150,000 acres of land lying north and south of the city of Calgary. In 1891 the Calgary and Edmonton Land Company was incorporated with 241,500 shares of $1 par value. The company since incorporation has disposed of all but approximately 55,000 acres, but retained the mineral rights on oil, gas and other minerals (excepting gold and silver). Early in 1929 it was decided to segregate mineral rights from lands and place the former in the hands of a Canadian company. In February, 1929, the Calgary and Edmonton Land Company went into voluntary liquidation and shareholders received ten shares of The Calgary & Edmonton Corporation Limited, which company acquired the mineral rights, and one share of a new English Company, which was formed to administer the remaining surface lands, in exchange for each original share.

Operations: The established policy of the company is to lease its mineral rights on a rental and royalty basis. Leases covering petroleum rights, in addition to specifying annual rental, provide for payment of royalty on production ranging from 12½% to 20%. In the majority of cases royalty amounts to 12½% until the remaining 87½% of production equals the cost of drilling the well, after which royalty increases to 15% if the well produces fifty barrels per day or less, and to 20% if over fifty barrels per day. Time limits are named in these leases generally stipulating that drilling operations must start within three months of signing of lease. Leases contain provisions for test drilling, also productive and offset drilling. At present approximately 63,000 acres are under lease or option. Drilling operations are not confined to any one area but are distributed throughout Southern part of Alberta in Turner Valley, Waite Valley, Highwood, Pincher Creek, Cardston, Willow Creek, Drywood, Kootenay River and Taber districts. Some of the prominent companies operating under Calgary and Edmonton leases are Imperial Oil Co., Royaltite Oil Co., Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Co., Alberta Gas & Fuel Co., Sterling Pacific Oil Co., Mayland Oil Co., Merland Oil Co., Commonwealth Petroleum Ltd., Nordon Corporation, Lowery Petroleum, Angus Oils, Advance Oil Co., Anglo Pacific Oils Ltd., Spray Oils Ltd., Teapot Dome Oils Ltd., Weymarn Petroleum Ltd. and Lundy Petroleum Ltd.

Drilling Progress: 20 wells at various stages on Calgary & Edmonton property.

INFORMATION ON APPLICATION

26 CENTRAL BUILDING, CALGARY

The Trend of Development is Southerly

DR. LOUIS Z. JOHNSON,
P.G., P.E., M.E., M.S., F.R.G.S.,
Internationally Known Petroleum
Geologist, in his report of Nov. 7,
1929, states:

"The Watson Anticline, lying 35 miles in a Southerly direction from Turner Valley field proper, is a structure of great promise, showing much greater possibilities than many others which are partly proven. It is in a region where formations range from Cambrian-Paleozoic to Eocene-Cenozoic, and so far still untouched by the drill.

"The structural reservoir volume of the Watson Anticline cannot be approximated without further study, but it has every promise of holding enormous pools, being nearly 50 miles in total length and by analogy with Turner Valley fold, from three-quarters to one mile in producing width.

"The structural and stratigraphic conditions on the Watson Anticline are in every way favorable, and strongly indicate the probability of large production being obtained."

GEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

FISHER & LOWRIE, internationally known petroleum geologists of Denver, Colo., have been retained to assist A.P. Con's Chief Geologist, T. B. WILLIAMS, Ph. D. We fully believe that our Geological Department is equal to any in Canada today and have the utmost confidence in the possibilities of properties listed above, every one of which has been subjected to a most careful examination.

In diversity of investment lies the greatest degree of safety, and with this in mind, A.P. Con's holdings have been spread over sixteen structures, totalling over 60,000 acres between the international boundary line and the Peace River country.

Turner Valley Produced 956,555 Barrels in 1929

The extent of the oil industry in Canada can be judged from the fact that the sum of $31,182,352 was the amount of capital employed in operating and drilling oil wells in Canada during 1928. These figures were compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

This information is disclosed in connection with the final figures on petroleum output from Canadian wells during 1928, which reached the new record of 634,184 barrels, valued at $2,035,300, as compared with 476,591 barrels, worth $1,516,043, produced in the preceding year. The Province of Alberta produced 482,047 barrels, principally from the Turner Valley field; Ontario, 134,094 barrels and New Brunswick wells, 8,043 barrels.

The Bureau points out that there were 41 wells in operation in Alberta at the close of the year and drilling was in progress at 61 other wells. Drilling was continued in the Turner Valley, Wainwright, Ribstone and other fields in Alberta, and in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the total drilling during the year in the three Prairie Provinces amounting to 203,816 feet, including 28,754 feet of structure drilling.

The report states that imports of petroleum and its products into Canada in 1928 were valued at $61,669,989, an increase of $8,791,272 or 16.6 per cent. over the 1927 total of $52,878,717. Gasoline imports totalled 143,653,116 imperial gallons, appraised at $16,812,418; the Canadian production of refined gasoline was 344,129,861 gallons and the export (Canadian and foreign) was 3,984,144 gallons, leaving 483,798,833 gallons available for use in Canada.

The total production from Turner Valley wells during 1929 amounted to 956,555 barrels, according to figures compiled locally. These may be subject to slight revision. At the time of going to press, the totals for other fields in the Province of Alberta are not yet available from official sources.

THE PETROLEUM PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN CANADA, 1928

(By Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canada)

Output of petroleum products from Canadian plants in 1928 was valued at $83,122,172, an increase of $18.5 millions over the 1927 output, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. Production from the 16 petroleum refineries was valued at $82,448,392, and the output from nine other concerns compounding lubricating oils and greases was valued at $673,780.

Four refineries were located in Ontario, four in Alberta, three in British Columbia, two in Quebec and one in each of the provinces of Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Capital employed in the petroleum refining industry represented by these 18 establishments was placed at $55,811,418; the number of employees averaged 4,252; the cost of materials was reported at $37,033,185 and the value added by manufacturing, which is the difference between the difference between the selling value of products and the cost of materials used, was $25,415,207. Gasoline production reached 344,129,861 imperial gallons, including 117,054 gallons made by the cracking process. To produce the 1928 output of cracked gasoline 284.5 million gallons of fuel and gas oil were used. Final sales of fuel and gas oils from the refineries amounted to 309,185,197 gallons in 1928, as against 239,272,246 gallons in the preceding year. In addition to this the refiners used 52,206,663 gallons as fuel in 1928 and 47,253,487 gallons in 1927.

In 1928 nine firms compounding lubricating oils and greases were located as follows: Three in Quebec, five in Ontario and one in Alberta. Capital invested in these plants was reported at $720,196; the average number of employees was 67; cost of materials was reported at $350,656, and the value added by manufacturing was $323,124 to give the total sales value of $673,780.

Considerable quantities of casinghead gasoline were imported into Canada during the year for use in blending with refinery gasoline; the amounts are shown in the import figures but are not included with the figures of refinery output.
